Rhode Island

Holistic Practice Seeks Associate Veterinarian

Great opportunity for motivated veterinarian interested in practicing high-quality medicine with a holistic approach. Well-established, integrative small animal practice in Southern Rhode Island seeks associate veterinarian. We offer acupuncture, chiropractic, herbal and homeopathic care and seek a candidate who is interested and/or trained in these modalities. Our practice will support continuing education in these modalities and train associate as part of a compensation package. Prior holistic practice experience not required, only an open and curious mind, good references and a commitment to ongoing studies in alternative therapies.

Southern Rhode Island is a wonderful area to live in, which features small New England towns, beautiful Atlantic beaches, farmlands and hardwood forest. Within close proximity to the cultural attractions of Providence and Newport and easy travelling connections through Green Airport and Amtrak. Our practice was designed with holistic care in mind, including a medicinal herb garden, gentle lighting and positive feng shui. Enjoy working with high quality clients and staff who are committed to quality health care in a loving environment.
