"Reunited," (30 x 30 oil on canvas)

Elise Phillips was born in Wayne, Pennsylvania into a family with an extensive background in the fine arts. A graduate of Hussian School of Art, she is an accomplished illustrator and graphic designer. Her inherent passion for painting motivated her to enroll at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, where she emerged well-schooled in the tradition of the Academy.

Elise's studio in Elverson, Pennsylvania is situated in the bucolic countryside, a constant source of inspiration for many of her paintings. The artist is an award-winning exhibitor, a signature member of the Philadelphia Water Color Society, and a member of the Philadelphia Sketch Club, Oil Painters of America, American Impressionist Society, and the Mid Atlantic Plein Air Painters.

Reunited was inspired by her daughter's recent trip to Ireland.

Erratum for volume 59:

In the article titled, "The Use of Cannabidiol-Rich Hemp Oil Extract to Treat Canine Osteoarthritis-Related Pain: A Pilot Study," Volume 58, Spring 2020 issue, the following disclosure statement was omitted: "This study was supported by Hemp My Pet, which supplied the CBD oil product and reimbursed the veterinary clinic for their time and supplies. The company had no input in the study design or interpretation of results. The authors have no financial or other relationships with this company."
